

1. There's a slip for boats, tie them up so they don't slide, here is where you'll find the only road sign post with the same word on all sides.

2. You may not remember if you're a millennial, but these signs were all over Ohio in 2003 for Ohio's _____.

3. It would be a smelly place to take a napper, get a picture standing beside "BLAKES" _____.

4. While we are on the subject of poo, there's a sign in this yard warning alerting you to the presence of their Shih Tzu.

5. 2020 may not be the best year, but if you look really hard you can find graduate signs from 2 different schools who live here (not in the same yard, just two different school graduate signs)

6. A helmet from this city with three rivers named after some metal-a would prove that the guy who lives there is obviously a fool-a! GO BROWNS!!!

7. Look very closely behind the glass you will see a schooner with white sails on its mast.

8. If your mind's a-drift, that could be good, keep your eyes peeled for this type of wood. An artist lives here and his stuff is so neat, you would be over 10' tall sitting in this life savers seat.

9. I hope you have your camera in tow, for on this mailbox is a small logo. You see it on the shirts of its creator, and on the side of his big green rotator. The logo is a two letter collage, if you get stuck on this one call Wilcox Garage.

10. Since we're talking about mail it would only be fair to find a mailbox that could be delivered by air. If you don't have a good guess ya can look for the logo of a small white cessna.

11. Some think it's GREAT others don't think it's funny, if you look on a pole you can find people who stump for _____ in 2020

12. If you hang a hard right at the Holiday Dr. fork you will find an RV with a whole lot of "TORQUE"

13. This one is tough, you better be sly as a fox, from the road through the trees you can see a wood duck box.

14. Pulling this out of your hat would really be funny, can you find the giant white

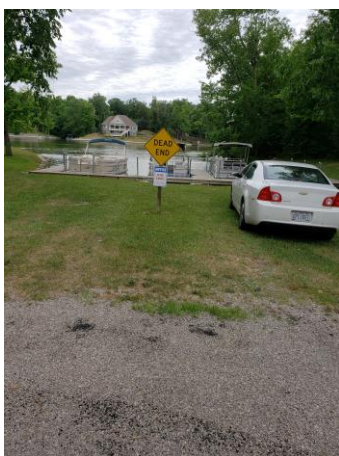

---

15. If you saw this in real life it would truly be regal, look closely here to find an owl hiding under an eagle.

16. How hot is the weather right now, you could probably find, if you looked really closely at this tin tobacco sign.

17. Here is a history lesson for y'all from this "end" of the road, in the lake at least 2 cars did fall. Do not fear and do not dread, no one in those splashes ended up "dead". I'm sure it upset their dad and mom, and for one group of ladies it ruined their prom!

18. Try to find 3 but I know there are more, the people who live behind these signs are amazing for sure. With summers off they splash and they play, always dreading that coming august day.

19. This little dutch couple stand on their porch staring, but if you are speeding then maybe they're glaring! Slow down there are children at play just up the hill!

20. From the mast of the Niagara this flew, but the facts of it's history who knew? It was Perry who had this adornment created, but it was someone else from whom this quote was first stated.
